Commission at Chicago Hears New Evidence as to Condition of Hospitals.

(By Telegraph.)

CHICAGO, Nev. 8.—The war investigating commission today continued the examination of witnesses. General Dodge, chairman of the committee, now says that he began to see an end of the long investigation.

Dr. A. C. Smith, of Chinton, In., was the first witness. He testified that at times the hospitals at Chickannauga were crowded; also that there was a shortage of medical supplies. He also complained of the water.

Asked about Dr. Milo B. Ward, who testified yesterday, winness said he regarded Dr. Ward as a very competent and very conscientions man. Dr. Smith continuing said: "Iwrote once a report to the surgeon general, but 1 think it never got any further than General Compton's office. I was asked by General Compton and Major Jenney to withdraw it, as it might get me into disfavor personally, but I told them there was nothing in it that I wished to withdraw."

A copy of this report had been preserved by Dr. Smith and was handed to the commission. In it he complains to the surgeon general about conditions in his hospital, giving facts and details in accordance with his evidence today. Charles S. Bullock, chaplain of the First Illinois Cavalry, with rank as captain, said that in the great majority of cross of complains of poor food or inadecrate supplies at Chickannauga were about the inhuman treatment of the goldiers was without any foundation.

Mrs. Trumbul White of Chicago, who went to Cuba with Miss Chara Barton on the Texas and assisted the latter for a time at Shoney, gave as her opinion that there was a great lack of attendants at the fever hospital at Shoney and the commission upon the question of provisions for the troops, the quality.

BONDHOLDERS ACT.

They Seek to Protect Their Interests in Cuba and Porto Rico.

(By Telegraph.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The foreign bondholders have at last moved formally to protect their interests in cuba and Porto Rico. The initial steps have been taken through the agency of the French cenbassy, which, in this case, acts no longer as the representative of the Spanish government, but for the Spanish statement has been present formlable statement has been present formlables to the State Department, being an account of the various Spanish bonds awared by French citizens chargeable against the territories set free by the get of the United States envernment.

The total sum of these bonds runs up far into the millions, Just what it is expected will be done with them is not unde clear. The United States government books to it to cause the independent of course, will not as them, but it may be that the French government books to it to cause the independent of the redemption of the and scharges for the redemption of the and scharge for the redemption of the and scharge for the redemption of the and scharge for the redemption of the sund scharge for the redemption of the sund scharge for the united States government, and it may be that the holders of such bonds. German and British, will take similar steps to have their claims brought through their diplomate representatives to the atention of the Linited States government, and it may be that the holders of such bonds in Spain, though Spainshe citizens, will take a like course, which would present an over claim upon the generosity of the United States.

JOHN ANDERSEN'S CASE, WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The appli-ation of John Andersen, under sen-ence to be hanger for murder com-nitted on the schooner Olive Pecker, or a writ of habeas corpus, was argued at the United States Supreme Court to-lay.

in the United States Supreme Court today.

Andersen's execution was to have taken place during August, but his application argued today operated as a stay.
He will be resentenced if the court decides against him. P. J. Morris and H.
G. Miller represented Anderson at today's hearing, and the United States District Attomey for the Eastern District of Virginia, represented the government.

The argument lasted all day, and the court took the case under advisement.
Andersen's plea for habeas corpus is based on the claim that he was not represented by counsel chosen by himself, but arbitrarily named by the trial court, thus denying him a constitutional right of coursel of his own choice.

Curils to Receive, Hampton E even to Play the William and Mary Football Team.

The Congressional election in Hampton and vicinity yesterday was a very quiet one and a light vote was policed. The day passed as screenly as a May morning and with no incident to ripple its monetony and not a shadow of cause for excitement on anybody's part. No special interest was taken in the contest, the Democratic apathy being due to the divided opposition and the Republican lethargy to the apparent hopelessness of victory.

resentatives of Mr. Holland were least conspicuous.

FOUND DEAD IN JAIL.

Sad Fate of an Old Soldier From the National Veterans' Home. A startling discovery was made by in-nates of the temporary county jail yes-erday morning. It was the finding of National Veterans' Home.

A startling discovery was made by inmates of the temporary county jail yesterday morning. It was the finding of the dead body of Archer Corrigan, a disabled veteran from the National Soldlers' Home, lying upon the floor of the jail closet. Corrigan had been apparently in his usual health when he letth his fellow prisolers an hour or two before and seemed quite cheerful. His companion in durance, an old comrade in arms, becoming uneasy at his long absence from the cell, Instituted a search and was shocked to find Corrigan cold and stiff in death.

The discovery was immediately reported to the jailor, by him to the sherlft, who summoned Dr. Hope, acting jail physician in Dr. Peek's absence. The physician, sherlff, and others examined the corpse and questioned the dead man's companions, but as there was nothing to indicate the contrary, death was attributed to natural causes and an inquest deemed unnecessary. Death was evidently due to apoplexy. The authorities at the Home were notified and the body was turned over to them for burfal.

Corrigan was arrested just one week ago by Officer Watts on a charge of drunkenness and was arraigned before Mayor J. Barron Hope. The evidence sustained the charge and the usual penalty for a plain drunk was imposed, $4.25 and costs, or ten days in jail. The prisoner had in his pocket when arrested $4.30, but elected to serve his 10 days and keep the money, which he was permitted to do.

Another one of the city's wards died yesterday at the almshouse, but in this case, the fatal summons was not unexpected. Alexander Bailey, a colored lunatic transferred from jail, to almshouse several days ago because of illness, died yesterday morning. His body will be burled at the town's expense.

feeting their team play. In Long, Adams and Benjamin, three of the new men, the locals believe they have three cracks who will give an excellent account of themselves in the game. Cantain Watter Burke, in the practice, gives the men that rapid, impetuous, dashy play that has won so many games in the past.

The game with Newport News will probably be played on Thanksgiving Day.

New County Jail Will Be Open for Public Inspection Next Thesday.

Sheriff R. K. Curtis authorizes the announcement that the new jail of Elizabeth City county, now about completed, will be open for the inspection of the public on next Thesday. November 15th, all day. That popular officer will be on hand to receive, and show visitors over the new county institution, of which all may be pardonably proud. It will be reception day, and though no "refreshments will be served," visitors are assured of an interesting experience and some surprises in the way of modern Jail building and entipment. If the visitors wish they may enjoy the hove experience of being locked in one of the powerful steel cells and of neeping through the building to be seen besides the prison proper.

The fail will probably be seentless.

A GARBAGE CREMATORY.

There has just been erected on the dite of the unsightly old garbage dump on the government reservation on the shore of Mill Creek a erematory for the Jestruction of rubbish and reduse. Modern sanitary science has demonstrated the efficiency of fire as a disingetant and in all the larger cities of the country crematories for the destruction of garbage have long been in use with most satisfactory results. Instead of merely removing refuse and decaying matter from proximity to populous enters where it might otherwise breed lisease germs, the crematory destroys the germs and removes the unsightly seaps entirely. The new crematory is a apacious brick over with a high due or dack.

"Delighted, Um sure," answered Chauneey, with a puzzled look on his face, as though trying to comember
where he had seen the agent.

"No yes—well, no, I can't say that I did," and the juzzled look deepened on Chauneey's fau.

"The—buby se—here."

"Why, yes, it arrived this morning.
What shall I do with H?"

"Do with what?"

"Why, the baby."

"The baby elephant."

A light broke over chauneey's face.

"My dear fellow," he said, "who do you take me for?"

"For Adam Forepaugh."

"For Adam Forepaugh."

Chauneey began to laugh. "Great cassar," he exclaimed. That's the fourth time I've mistaken for Mr. Forepaugh since I have been in Philadelphia, and in every town I strike I have at least one experience of the kind. My name's Depew—I'm chauneey Depew."
